

WASHINGTON (February 1, 2010) - Congressman Spencer Bachus (AL-6) issued the following statement today on President Obama's budget proposal for Fiscal Year 2011.

"The proposal to spend almost $4 trillion is hardly a plan to get spending under control.□ The American people simply cannot afford a second straight budget that spends too much, taxes too much, and borrows too much.□ While the President talked about fiscal discipline over the weekend, he has proposed the largest budget in history.□ We need to go through the budget line by line, keeping the interest of taxpayers first."
